
Sabers II should be released now

Posted by Andmylizzlyn - 2008/03/20 14:38

this is the official pestering of Andmylizzlyn to the red headed freak who has very bad taste in what projects to do first. "i don't know," says a reliable source that wields a double edged lightsaber, which he knows how to use proficiently. May the force motivate you...NOW. Beware the darkside and happy Easter.

Thanks for the pestering :)

It sucks being a one man company because sometimes projects due tend to take longer, especially when other priorities come up. But at the same time being the only person working here can be fun because I can run around the office naked with no consequence... unless if the shades are open :blush:
