
Super Smash Bros Brawl Friend Codes

Posted by Lilredhead - 2008/03/13 15:43

Hey everybody!

As you may or may not know, me and many of the Lilredhead Studios crew members are very active video game players. Just recently Super Smash Bros Brawl for the Wii was released and it has online play. So if any of you guys have the game, go ahead and post your Friend code here and maybe we can get a game going some time.

To locate your Smash Bros friend code: on the main game menu select Nintendo Wi-fi. After connecting select With Friends then Friend Roster and your friend number should be shown. Post it here and share it with all of us!

Remember, once you post your number be sure to add the others on here. Both people must register each other before they can play.

As people post their numbers I will add them to this first post for easier reading:

Yeah, I've been playing since the N64 game too. Although it probably doesn't seem like it :P

I was a huge fan of Melee but haven't played it for quite some time. So I guess that explains why I am rusty in Brawl.

And yes, you're right, ZSS is a bitch :pinch:

We'll have to play again sometime. I usually don't have a set time for when I'm on, just whenever I have free time. I'll see you around soon.

Yeah, I think you're posting your Wii friend code and not your smash bros code. Just boot the game select Nintendo Wifi then Friend Roster and your number should be listed right there.

Anyway, I'll be sure to add everyone who has posted here soon. I'm sure we'll be able to get some games going.

Re:Super Smash Bros Brawl Friend Codes

All you have to do is click Nintendo Wi-Fi on the menu, it'll connect you. Once you're connected you can access the choice to play with friends or anyone (random people). The Friends Roster allows you to add the friend codes, etc.

Does that help or did I misunderstand you?

Everyone... just so you know this is a two way street here... if you want to play with someone, BOTH people have to add. I have everyone on this list added but still waiting for registration. It does not matter how good you are at this game, you'll never get to show your "mad skillz" unless you add people too.

Go to page one of this post and you will see that Lilredhead has posted everyone's friend code in a nice easy to read list.

Correct, and just to reiterate, I have indexed everyone's number on the front page. All you have to do is click here to view the first post. I edit that post several times throughout the day as people add their numbers. So this should eliminate confusion.

Hey everybody!

As you may or may not know, me and many of the Lilredhead Studios crew members are very active video game players. Just recently Super Smash Bros Brawl for the Wii was released and it has online play. So if any of you guys have the game, go ahead and post your Friend code here and maybe we can get a game going some time.

To locate your Smash Bros friend code: on the main game menu select Nintendo Wi-fi. After connecting select With Friends then Friend Roster and your friend number should be shown. Post it here and share it with all of us!

Remember, once you post your number be sure to add the others on here. Both people must register each other before they can play.

As people post their numbers I will add them to this first post for easier reading:

Hey everybody!

Because the forum is picking up in popularity now, I have decided to add a list of forum rules to the site. They are nothing severe, just some common sense stuff really. Just click the RULES link at the top to look at them.

Also, in an effort to help cut down on spam and other problems, I am now requiring people to register an account on the forum before they post. It's really simple to do. Just click the register link on the forum, fill out the field, submit it and you're done! If you have any questions, just let me know.

Have fun!

Hey everybody!

As you may or may not know, me and many of the Lilredhead Studios crew members are very active video game players. Just recently Super Smash Bros Brawl for the Wii was released and it has online play. So if any of you guys have the game, go ahead and post your Friend code here and maybe we can get a game going some time.

To locate your Smash Bros friend code: on the main game menu select Nintendo Wi-fi. After connecting select With Friends then Friend Roster and your friend number should be shown. Post it here and share it with all of us!

Remember, once you post your number be sure to add the others on here. Both people must register each other before they can play.

As people post their numbers I will add them to this first post for easier reading:

Re:Super Smash Bros Brawl Friend Codes

Posted by brawls2fight - 2008/04/03 08:30

If you want to change te rules from 2 min. matches, you have to press A, (gamecube & classic controller & nunchuk) press 2 (Wiimote) on the rule settings (for wi-fi). If you brawling with anyone on wi-fi, it's atuomatically 2 min. on offline brawl, go to the rules section on group mode :)

sorry if it's too long :S

Um... sorry, but I have better things to do than to match you up with "good" people. This is just one thread dedicated to the game. Most of us here play for fun so maybe you can get off your pedestal for a second and socialize and obtain friend codes yourself. And don't post the same thing fives times in a row next time, I don't enjoy cleaning up after people.

Ummm yeah, sorry about that :(

No worries. I went ahead and added you, so hopefully I'll be able to get on at a time when we can play :)

If someone was here and willing to play, they would have answered by now. There is no need to post three times in a row with senseless messages. It's unneeded and isn't beneficial.

Just be patient, I'm sure someone will read your messages and post a reply. But posting every 30 minutes with stuff like "bored" isn't going to help.

Hey all. My ssbb friend code is; 1032 1319 5420

I'm on often, just unable to get any friends, always playing the team mode though since it's quicker to find people to play against that way. Let me know when you add me so i can do the same to you. Heard it's plays smoother when playing in a room with your friends.

PS. i'm fairly good, you'll lose a bunch ;)

Maybe we'll get a few team rounds going eventually. Best players on my friend list are mike!,jon, Mingo, Protos, G-Man, Adam, and last, Onox. If you beat Onox you either got lucky or you are on point gamewise lol. Play against me enough and they'l eventually join the room for ya'll to add.

lmao. Now that's funny vic. I've come to the conclusion that theres no one character to beat everyone (which is a good thing), u might be able to dominate everyone with the sword guys until a good fox/wolf/falco or something comes you're way. Then ur sword is useless. :P

Chad probably busy messing with this forum among other things to have much time to play often let alone adding ppl i suppose. I found i rival so i'm good now on brawl friend wise lol. (I can't beat the guy for nothing, but i'm getting better after all them losses though lol) Did a 3 stock no items a few times, and he won, with his 3 lives lmao.

Next time you feel like playing some good people, log in nhotspot.com for friend codes on brawl. It has a chatroom. And it won't take long before you get stomped by somebody :P. It's the most active place i've yet to see for brawl at the moment. Having it a chatroom makes it quicker to get ppl also. The top two players on it thus far are EJ, and L-S-Z (Luigi,Zelda,Shiek lol) He show'd me a new light far as luigi being not that big a threat.

Well, since you guys are talking about Mario Kart Wii more and more, I decided it was best to make a separate thread about it since this one is pretty big and about Brawl:

Go there to post your friend codes and stuff. I have the game but I can't guarantee when I'll be on since I also got GTA IV and that seems to be consuming my life right now :blink:. But I'll be playing it and I'll add people whenever I can.
